

PATRICIA'S PAINT BRUSH RIDING SCHOOL

Full Equine Training

(Patricia W. Clements)

Shoe - Less Farrier Services would like to welcome "Patty" and her herd of school Horses to our Team! We look forward to her abilities in working with the stubborn part of Horses -- the rider.

Patricia's extensive background with Horses started back in the 1970s when she "got her first ride". Like many of us she learned her basic Horse sense from trial and error. Unlike a lot of us, though, she has a gift to see past the errors and regain the trust of the Horse. Once Patricia started down the "professional" trail it became clear to me and others on the S-LFS team that this lady has a gift and manner that benefits Horses and their human partners. Her quiet, easy-going instructions are easily understood by both children and "know-it-all" adults. The methods she employs causes the human to "think" like a Horse, (something we humans have a very hard time doing).

What I find most interesting about her approach to teaching folks to ride is her uncanny ability to "talk" to humans (whatever their IQ). Unlike many of the "TV Trainers" she concentrates on the relationship from the Horse's perspective, which means she does not "train the Horse" she trains the human. Patricia has often explained that no two humans are alike, not even identical twins; therefore, not every human can give the exact queue or touch the same "pressure" area the Horse might have been trained to. So each human needs to adapt to their abilities and be able to understand what the Horse is answering to and why.

You may be asking, why Paint Brush Riding School? Patricia's herd is mostly Paint or Spotted Horses. Also, as she says, "To be an artist in the saddle one needs a wide brush to paint the picture." I couldn't agree more! If you think you and your Horse partner could "paint better pictures" Shoe - Less Farrier Services and our team would encourage you to contact Miss Patty to schedule one of her Free Evaluations, and start down the "picture perfect trail".
